DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The objection to the drawings under 37 CFR 1.83(a) is withdrawn in view of the amendment to claim 11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-5, 7, 10, 13-16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawasaki et al (US 2001/0047786 A1). The starter has a rope reel 21 and pulley 31, which is rotatable by way of spring coupling element 15. A sleeve, as claimed, is defined by the cylindrical portions of rope reel 21 and pulley 31 surrounding axle 12.

Claims 1-5, 7, 11, 13-16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Leasure et al (US 6,782,863 B2). Claims embrace at least the recoil starter embodiment shown in Figure 10, which includes a rope pulley 86, an engaging element 90 with a sleeve portion, and a spring coupling element 88.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawasaki et al (US 2001/0047786 A1) in view of Forbess (US 2,511,908). Kawasaki et al discloses the claimed invention as stated above except for hardened metal. Forbess teaches that it is known to use hardened components in a recoil starter (column 2, line 27; column 3, line 6). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the recoil starter of Kawasaki et al of hardened components, as taught by Forbess, in order to make the starter more durable.

Claims 8 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawasaki et al (US 2001/0047786 A1) in view of Uhl (US 5,287,832). Kawasaki et al discloses the claimed invention as stated above except that the spring coupling element is not expressly disclosed as being pretensioned (claim 18). Uhl teaches that it is known to pretension a spring coupling element. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to pretension the spring coupling element, as taught by Uhl, in the starter of Kawasaki et al in order to apply desired torque from the rope reel to the pulley.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The similarity of the element 8 identified as the "bushing or sleeve" and corresponding elements of the prior art is evident from the below side by side comparison applicant's starter (right) with those of Kawasaki et al (left) and Liesure et al (center).

The claims set forth no detail of structure that would serve to distinguish over the references as applied. One must bear in mind that, especially in nonchemical cases, the words in a claim are generally not limited in their meaning by what is shown or disclosed in the specification. See, e.g., Liebel-Flarsheim Co. v. Medrad Inc., 358 F.3d 898, 906, 69 USPQ2d 1801, 1807 (Fed. Cir. 2004).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
